Half Of County Pupils Ride 3091 Miles A Day In 65 Buses At A Cost Of $144,198 A Year

county's school children ride buses to and from school each day. The distance traveled by the buses is 3091 miles daily and the cost of the transportation system totals $144,-198.49 a vear.

A summation of the contracts for bus transportation issued by the various school districts shows that a total of 4178 children ride in buses out of the all time high of 7006 pupils in the public schools, elementary and secondary. That number, however, is higher than the actual number of children carried by buses. Some youngsters change buses en route from school to home, and their names appear in two different contracts:

38 Owners of 65 Buses

The contracts call for payment of $144,19849 to the 38 owners of the approximately 65 buses. Of that sum $118,941 35 is paid by the state m the form of reimbursement to the school systems, making $25,-257 14 the annual amount paid by the taxpayers of the 31 school districts to their school boards for transportation

According to the records at the county office, the Upper Adams joint school system carries the largest number of students of any jointure, a total of 886, using 15 buses. It costs the district $30,372.44 per year to transport the children a total of 577 miles daily.

Other Districts

Lower Adams carries 340 children a total of 233 miles a day at a cost of $13,708 90 per year. Gettysburg district does not operate its school system as a jointure, but Cumberland township, according to the records, carries 271 children 228 miles a day at a cost of $10,297 per year. Highland transports 62 children 73 miles a day at a cost of $4,005 per year. Straban hauls 434 youngsters, 368 miles per day at a cost of $10,935.45 per year. Freedom township transports 107 youngsters 290 miles daily at a cost of $2,690.10 per year and Franklin township provides bus service over a 242 mile route to 443 children daily, at an annual cost of $14,850. North Adams joint system carries 456 pupils 270 miles a day at a cost of $10,080 per year. Conewago Joint system has 302 students riding-170 miles daily at a cost of $10,625. Fairfield joint system spends $22,587 per year to provide buses carrying 381 children a total of 408 miles a day and the Littlestown joint system transports 436 children 232 miles daily at a cost of $14,047.20 per year. Long Route In Fairfield

Some of the longest routes in the county lie in the Fairfield area, where at least two buses travel a total of 72 miles to and from school. Youngsters living at the end of the route travel approximately that distance each day to get to school and return home.

The bus routes range in length from 72 miles in Fairfield to one of only four miles in length in the same jointure.

Consolidate Two Railroad Positions

Two veteran employes of the Reading railroad company whose combined service total more than 80 years, have been relieved of their positions, it was learned today.

In an economy move, the Reading company consolidated the positions of agent and telegrapher here into one post, that of agent-telegrapher. Henry W. Garvin, agent with almost 30 years of service, and D. M. Stouffer, telegrapher with more than 56 years of service, are relieved and their positions will be filled by Herbert Fetters, present telegrapher-agent at Starner's Station. Mr. Stouffer will retire from railroad service the first of the year.

were taken on a mythical trip from LaGuardia airport, New York city, across the Atlantic ocean to Europe in a talk Tuesday night by John P. Cann, Highland avenue, a flight officer of TWA, who has made 100 Atlantic crossings by air.

The dinner meeting was held at 6:30 o'clock at the Adams house. President Glenn Guise presided at the business session, and the speaker was introduced by Dr. Robert S. Lefever, chairman of the program

Mr. Cann has been employed by TWA for the past seven years, he said. His wife is the former Jean Ziegler, of Gettysburg.

Carries Crew of 10

Mr. Cann described the flight of a large Constellation plane, over the route from LaGuardia field to Nova Scotia, then across the ocean to Ireland and on to Paris. At Paris, the crew is relieved by another crew which takes the plane to Rome Athens, Cairo and Bagdad.

Mr. Cann said a Constellation on a trans-Atlantic flight carries a crew of 10 including three pilots. Crewmen alternate on duty, at least three being off duty and resting at all times during the trip. It takes two and a half hours of preparation (Please Turn to Page 2)

He was also found guilty of failure to "secure humane treatment of Soviet prisoners of war, in consequence of which many of them died or were shot."

NEW PRESSURE

dent Truman and Congress may have to face a problem next month how to get John L. Lewis' United Mine workers back on a five-day work week. Pressure is increasing in some quarters for the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley act.

Industry leaders say Lewis has created a national emergency through the four full scale walkouts he's called this year and the threeday week which he has ordered indefinitely for his 480,000 United Mine workers.

There's enough coal on hand for about three months unless unusually cold weather prevails. But retailers and steel companies are watching their dwindling stockpiles and are worried.

The steel companies are starting to eat up their reserves. They're trying to catch up with the production they lost during the recent 42-day old strike of the CIO United steelworkers It all adds up to increasing pressure on the industry and Lewis to get together on a contract to extend the one which expired last June 30

Lewis isn't saying anything, But he's keeping a close watch on efforts of his lieutenants to get independent soft coal operators to sign contracts and break away from the solid front maintained by the industry's leaders. Meanwhile, negotiations are con-

Ex-Pro Ball Player Guilty Of Murder CANNERS LOSE PAIR OF TILTS

The lads from Shippensburg had all of the height and made good use of that advantage to control the the Canner's defense and continued to increase their lead throughout.

Shippensburg started right off by sinking three field goals before the Canners could find the basket. Pitzer finally sank a twin pointer for the home team for the initial tally and Heller followed up with a set Littlestown high dropped a pair Heller and Spicer tossed in free tosses and Shippensburg added another goal in the first stanza.

The second quarter started off as Blind the home team tallied when Rice Blind laid it up for a score. Shippensburg sank a goal and Heller and Pitzer each made a charity toss. Shippensburg came back and hit the cords with three consecutive field goals on a fast break. Heller added a goal on a set shot to close the half with Biglerville trailing 16 to 13.

As the third frame got under way was making two goals to every one for the home team. While Rice him $4,100 for a season in which he scored with two twin pointers and didn't play, wound up by being tack-Pitzer and Heller each sent the ball led behind his own goal line.

YANKS MAY GET

Philadelphia, Dec. 21 (AP) - The feel their livery is a cure-all for "pretty hopeful they won't have to ailing and disappointing ball players are believed interested in the "strange case of pitcher Phil Mar-4 childon.

During the recent major league meeting Manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks indicated interest in the smallish pitcher from Penetang, Ontario. Stengel is reported to have offered outfielder Johnny Lindell for the A's right hander provided doctors reported his arm is in good shape

Connie Mack always has openly 2 coveted Lindell but he steadfastly refused to part with the likes of 0 pitcher Joe Coleman to get the big outfielder. He might be willing to make a deal with Marchildon as bait.

The Marchildon-Lindell deal cropped up today with the news that the pitcher was in Philadelphia preparatory to going to Baltimore for an examination by Dr. George F. Bennett, surgeon who removed the bone spur from Joe DiMaggio's heel

The 34-year-old Marchildon won 19 games for the A's in 1947 and nine in 1948. Last season he appeared in seven games, completed none, pitched a total of 16 innings and lost all three decisions in which Marchildon vielded 24 hits, 19 bases on balls, two wild pitches and Shippensburg found the range and Ralph Ruthstrom, who tried to get a total of 23 runs. He fanned two but hit another batsman.

Bursitis complicated by a delayed nerve reaction from his harrowing war experiences was ascribed as the root of his troubles, though by the end of the season his arm appeared as strong as ever. Marchildon was a prisoner of the Germans for more than two years after parachuting from a stricken plane during World War II.

NEED TRIMMING FOR XMAS TREE

County Home Steward Berbert Taylor had a suggestion to make to the residents of the town today, while extending his appreciation to a number of groups who have helped Coshun, and Miss Kathryn Deaner make bright the Christmas season for the 78 inmates of the home.

> For the past week various groups have been visiting the county home to bring gifts to the old folks there, singing, and a taste of the Christmas season for them.

> But there is little at the home in the line of decorations that helps suggest the Christmas spirit. Some years ago organizations, and > individuals, donated decorated Christmas trees. This year only a "tiny little tree" is there, located in the men's building. It was the only one donated. H. Lupp, of Biglerville. Taylor suggests that he can get trees, but the cost of decorations is prohibitive.

He hopes someone might have few decorations to donate.

what police described as split-second timing, three masked men held up and robbed the central branch office of Abbotts Dairies, Inc., of $40,822. The three bandits entered the office last night and covered three employes with four pistols, one of the bandits grasping a weapon in each hand.

Then one of the gunmen barged into a cashier's cage to snatch the loot from an unlocked safe. The other two bound one employe with adhesive tape and ordered the other two employes to lie on the floor.

Heavy traffic passed the office during the holdup. Detectives said it his three pet dogs in the woods near open stairway to the second floor was probable a fourth member of directly opposite. INSTALL Storm Sash NOW

End the annoyance of uneven temperatures, of rooms that are too warm by the heat source and too cold near the window. Enjoy the winter and save up to 30% on your fuel bill by installing storm windows. Tests prove that much of the heat loss from the average home is through window areas when storm sash are not used. Storm windows make your home more healthful and comfortable because they reduce cold downdrafts off the glass. This is of special importance with youngsters or old people in your home.

Not only is your fuel bill cut and your comfort increased with storm sash, but you also insulate your home against outside noise. Storm windows also minimize dripping condensation which damages sills, draperies and floors.

Don't delay. Order today. Save on fuel . . . and enjoy greater comfort this winter!

Large Crowd Braves Cold to Sing Carols: Center Square, wind-swept and frigid, reverberated with the sound of several hundred voices, harmoniously blended and many persons, who did not sing, were attracted to the center of town by the Christmas carols on Sunday evening.

Augmenting the various church choirs were members of the Gettysburg High School chorus, lending additional volume to the singing. . .

Much of the credit for the success of the caroling is due Miss Lucille Henry, supervisor of music in the public schools, who planned the community sing and afterward presented her ideas to a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs, who sponsored the Couple Are Wed at Littletown: A pretty wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of the Reformed church. Littlestown, at 6 o'clock, Saturday evening, when Miss Esta Viola Bechtel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray G. Bechtel, Littlestown, became the bride of Mark H. WHY HURRY?

One of the famous phrases of the world is this: "The more haste, the less speed." We have this truth exemplified nearly every day in the news stories of our daily newspaper. Only this week I read of how it might. We do it now in a day-and that's quick enough—excepting in a grave years.

Many of the things that we buy these days begin to fall apart before we learn how to use them! The more One Month (By Carrier) __ 50 cents power that is put into the engine of $6.00 an automobile the less conscious is late yesterday at a luxurious guest Three cents the driver of its speed-all too often to his regret. The latest models have beauty and comfort, then why hurry? Why not enjoyment at the life-risk to no one?? The best worker is the conscientious one, not the rapid working one. Good work takes time. It is a joy to view the old homes that were built by our forefathers. We have made improvements in their arrangements, but not in their painstaking efforts to make them serve for a long time. I have just read a little book that the author stated it took him 17 years to write, and thought it was first published in 1883, only today have I bought a new edition just published. You see it was not just "dashed off." as so many are today. and so it lives and will live. The late William Allen White once told me that a publisher had offered him $10,000 advance if he would give them a book, but he refused. It was some 10 years later when he did give them a book.

It took a lifetime for Marcus Aurelius to give to the world his brief book of meditations. And how about Bunyan, Cervantes and Montaigne? Each left but one great book, but they took their time to write it. That's why we still read them.

Why hurry? Nature doesn't. Some of her great trees still stand in California, mocking man's mad mania for speed. There are those who would even have cut them down into timber, and sold for money! American Federation of Labor is God's lesson of two thousand years taken to indicate that John L. Lewis would then be wiped out. It took will continue in his present position millions of years to get the world

INSTALL Storm Sash

End the annoyance of uneven temperatures, of rooms that are too warm by the heat source and too cold near the window. Enjoy the winter and save up to 30% on your fuel bill by installing storm windows. Tests prove that much of the heat loss from the average home is through window areas when storm sash are not used. Storm windows make your home more healthful and comfortable bacause they reduce cold downdrafts off the glass. This is of special importance with youngsters or old people in your home.

Not only is your fuel bill cut and your comfort increased with storm sash. but you also insulate your home against outside noise. Storm windows also minimize dripping condensation which damages sills, draperies and floors.

Don't delay. Order today. Save on fuel . . . and enjoy greater comfort this winter!

Johnstown, Fa., Dec. 21 (A)-Although little Jimmy Beiswenger hasn't been told he may not live long after Christmas, the nine-yearold boy doesn't smile all the time the way he used to. His parente, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beiswenger, of nearby Ashville, say Jimmy was always smiling-even after he contracted Hodgkins disease two years ago. Hodgkins disease is a malady that enlarges the lymph glands of the neck.

"Now, he doesn't smile anymore," sain his moreer vesternay.

The Beiswengers said they fear Jimmy may suspect what his doctors said—he may not live long after Christmas.

Last week, Guy Monick and Ralph Albarano, teachers at nearby Galliczin high achaol, loaded an automobile with gifts and took them to Jimmy's hame for an early Christ-

We kids flocked around her in the evenings and she entertained us with the most fascinating and interesting stories we ever heard. Most of them were biblical stories. Each had a moral and Grandma always used that to emphasize to us how very important it was for us to be good and keep out of mis-

Frequently we kids would steal crab apples from a tree in Grandma's vard. At least we thought we were stealing them, but every time we were caught in the act by Grandma, who would call from her porch: "Be careful boys. Don't go too far out on that limb," or, "You'll find better ones on that other limb," or "Here, I have better ones in the house for you." Sometimes she would say, "Bring me a few."

Every summer Grandma worked her own garden. Daily she could be seen, her tell-tale white bonnet bobbing about, hoe or rake in hand, working the soil. Her tomatoes, radishes and other products of her effort were the best in the neighborhood. She supplied everybody with lettuce, generous servings of big, juicy tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, etc. She always liked to do for others.

Each Christmas we kids gave her handkerchiefs. We had to earn the money too, because we were told it made the giving that much more sincere and worthwhile. Grandma made us mighty proud and happy because she wiuld always say, "That's just exactly what I wanted and need. How did you know?" She must have received some horrible looking 'kerchiefs because each kid did his own shopping. But every kid was made to feel that he was giving Grandma the finest gift in all the world. Is there any wonder why we'll never forget her?

The few times that Grandma was ill the entire neighborhood seemed to go into mourning. Everybody felt badly, and showed it. And everybody prayed, too, each in his own way. Grandma always said that God heard every prayer, especially the children's prayers.

When Grandma reached 90 she said she didn't think she was going to live much longer. But the neighborhood felt differently. Everybody wanted Grandma to live to be 100. She just laughed, as only Grandma could laugh, when we told her that we were going to celebrate her 100th birthday.

Every week Grandma checked us kids to find out if anyone failed to go to church on Sunday. She was a stickler for regular church attendance. During her late years, she was unable to attend services regularly but she always read her Bible every day. It was a well-worn book and she seemed to know every word in it. She inspired us all, Catholics, Protestants and

During the cold winter months Grandma sat in her favorite rocker at her front window and watched us play. We made snowmen and forts in her yard, had snowball fights and sledded so she could watch us.

Soon Grandma reached her 99th birthday. She had failed quite a bit. She couldn't work her garden and she didn't sit on her front porch nearly so often. Her voice quivered and her hands shook.

One day my mother told us not to play or make noise around Grandma's house. "She's very ill," she said. We saw the doctor come and go several times a day. We felt something was going to happen, something we didn't want to see or hear about. Grandma celebrated her 100th birthday in bed. We never saw her alive again.

Some time later she passed away. It was not a surprise but it hurt . . . way down, deep in

We kids flocked around her in the evenings and she entertained us with the most fascinating and interesting stories we ever heard. Most of them were biblical stories. Each had a moral and Grandma always used that to emphasize to us how very important it was for us to be good and keep out of mis-

Frequently we kids would steal crab apples from a tree in Grandma's yard. At least we thought we were stealing them, but every time we were caught in the act by Grandma, who would call from her porch: "Be careful boys. Don't go too far out on that limb," or, "You'll find better ones on that other limb," or "Here, I have better ones in the house for you.' Sometimes she would say, "Bring me a few.'

Every summer Grandma worked her own garden. Daily she could be seen, her tell dale white bonnet bobbing about, hoe or rake in hand, working the soil. Her tomatoes, radishes and other products of her effort were the best in the neighborhood. She supplied everybody with lettuce, generous servings of big, juicy tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, etc. She always liked to do

Each Christmas we kids gave her handkerchiefs. We had to earn the money too, because we were told it made the giving that much more sincere and worthwhile. Grandma made us mighty proud and happy because she wiuld always say, "That's just exactly what I wanted and need. How did you know?" She must have received some horrible looking 'kerchiefs because each kid did his own shopping. But every kid was made to feel that he was giving Grandma the finest gift in all the world. Is there any wonder why we'll never for-every prayer, especially the children's prayers.

When Grandma reached 90 she said she didn't think she was going to live much longer. But the neighborhood felt differently. Everybody wanted Grandma to live to be 100. She just laughed, as only Grandma could laugh, when we told her that we were going to celebrate her 100th birthday.

During the cold winter months Grandma sat in her favorite rocker at her front window and watched us play. We made snowmen and forts in her yard, had snowball fights and sledded.

One day my mother told us not to play or make noise around Grandma's house. "She's very ill," she said. We saw the doctor come and go several times a day. We felt something was going to happen, something we didn't want to see or hear about. Grandma celebrated her 100th

We never saw her alive again.

Some time later she passed

The few times that Grandma was ill the entire neighborhood seemed to go into mourning. Everybody felt badly, and showed it. And everybody prayed, too, eách in his own way. Grandma always said that God heard

Every week Grandma checked us kids to find out if anyone failed to go to church on Sunday. She was a stickler for regular church attendance. During her late years, she was unable to attend services regularly but she always read her Bible every day. It was a well-worn book and she seemed to know every word in it. When the undertaker brought her body home we kids sat around the curbs, hardly talking. We didn't know what to do with ourselves. One evening our mothers dressed us up and we called at Grandma's. We walked up to her bier, paused a moment, said a prayer, then left. She looked as though she was sleeping.

On funeral day all of us wanted to go to the Presbyterian church for the services but we weren't permitted. Everya body else in the neighborhood went. We watched them carry Grandma out and drive away. Then, after all the carriages had left, we kids started walking towards the church. It wasn't two blocks away. It was a warm

Carlisle Plan Cited The most heartening thing these days, says Pitkin, is that the Commonwealth's smaller cities now appear fully conscious of the problem and are seeking an answer. Typical of good local planning by a small city, says Pitkin, is that of Carlisle. The Cumberland county seat has plans for redevelopment of its entire commercial area, including adequate off-street parking facilities.

A survey showed that although Carlisle contains only 20.7 per cent of the county's population, it closes 36.1 per cent of total county retail

"This proves that Carlisle and other towns like it must have enough parking space for visitors mainly, says Pitkin. "Customers are fluid and will make their purchase where they can park.

the world over paid extravagant in the conviction of Fire Marshal day as the patron saint of Communism. Millions celebrated the Russian ruler's 70th birthday.

Organization of the most tremendous celebration ever tendered one man spread from Moscow over nearly half the world.

Workers under Communist rule sent glowing pledges to "the genius Stalin," promising greater production, greater loyalty, greater struggle for peace and greater purges of Communism's enemies.

Gifts Pour In

Birthday gifts poured into Moscow in an unending stream of freight cars, trucks, carts, airplanes and sleighs.

Cities and streets and mountains in every corner of the vast area which now pays obeisance to the Soviet Union had their historic names changed in honor of this one man - there were Mount Stalins, Stalin boulevards and Stalin cities. Lesser Communist leaders everywhere have whipped their followers into a frenzy of competition against each other-rivalry in work to demonstrate who loves best the mysterious man with the pipe and the heavy moustache. Overshadows Christmas

Over almost half the globe the traditional preparations for Christmas were dimmed almost into oblivian by the new joy over the birthday of Russia's premier—called "inspirer of creation" in one Moscow newspaper headline.

Even the founding fathers of Communism were put in the shadow of the adulation poured out for Stalin. Karl Marx never dreamed of such tributes. Lenin appeared as a lesser apostle in comparison.

The Supreme Soviet Presidium set up new annual international Stalin peace prizes which seemed aimed at rivaling the Nobel peace prize. Each year from five to 10 persons will receive 100,600 rubles (about $20,000) each "for outstanding service | in the cause of the struggle against warmongers and for strengthening

The most heartening thing these days, says Pitkin, is that the Commonwealth's smaller cities now appear fully conscious of the problem and are seeking an answer. Typical of good local planning by a small city, says Pitkin, is that of Carlisle. The Cumberland county seat has plans for redevelopment of its entire commercial area, including adequate off-street parking facili-

other towns like it must have enough parking space for visitors mainly," says Pitkin. "Customers are fluid and will make their purchase where they can park."

Parking Lots Best Start The Carlisle plan for the future, to be carried out gradually, provides for the acquisition of the interiorback yards and such-of built-up blocks.

Pitkin believes that parking lots are the best beginning in a town auto-mooring system. "They cost less than buildings," he said, "and can be built up later into multiplestory structures when more funds are available."

The city of Allentown is one of the most advanced in the fight against "parkingitis." Some 860 parking spaces are provided in seven newly-acquired lots. A capacity of

1,200 is expected by next year. Other Towns' Plans Realizing that suburban and rural shoppers were weary of fighting their way to the downtown stores, Allentown merchants banded themselves together as Park and Shop, Inc., and began buying lots in proximity to their stores. The next project is erection of a
